TIE GAME WITH R. P. I.

Team Holds the Heavier Rensselaer Team Without a Score by Fine Defensive Playing.

Last Saturday the College witnessed a supremely interesting game, mad more so by occasional roughness, and though the phrase sounds rather timeworn in its inadequacy, a virtual victory. There were no gloom-covered faces among the Hamilton rooters, whether they were students or Alumni, of whom a generous number for a preliminary game were present. The wiseacres feared a 12-0 defeat, especially after the tall, rangy but weighty Rensselaer team had taken the field. While we do not infer that our team is on a par with that of Williams, we cannot pass the opportunity to gloat on the fact that Rensselaer had held Williams to a 0-0 score on the preceding Saturday—outplaying them, in fact, if we may believe the statement of the R. P. I. coach.

By the way, it may interest Hamilton's supporters to know that Coach Inglis of R. P. I. admitted—nor did he reluctantly—that our team put up a splendid defensive game, a disheartening one, in fact. Our own coaches, also were loud in their praise of the work of the line in slashing defense, as were Sherman, '05, and Barrows, '06, who characterized the game as containing some of the finest line play ever shown by a Hamilton team.

To attempt to give an accurate account of the plays would be vain; suf fice it to say that neither team could gain consistently and the game, therefore, devolved into a punting duel, with the play almost entirely in the center of the field, neither goal being greatly menaced. Twice each team attempted goals from the field from about the 30 yard line, but the kicks were either blocked or fell short.

Here are a few impressions of the playing that appealed especially to the onlooker:

Mention of the excellent defensive work of our line has been made; the line, however, was so very weak on the offense that considerable attention should be given to this department henceforth.

The linemen, especially the tackles and ends, must improve in boxing their opponent's tackles, for rushing is a sure failure, obviously, if the backs cannot reach the scrimmage line.

Time after time, the R. P. I. tackles broke up plays; true, they were playing a fairly wide defense, but not so wide that greater activity on the part of our tackles and ends could not have smothered them. The line lacks homogenity both of purpose and action and the men must learn to work together.

Notwithstanding the fact that the R. P. I. ends were strong, heady players, our interference was not at all efficient. The new arrangement of the backs, however, may sufficiently explain the so-evident lack of smoothness and dash.

Our open play was better executed than in former years, owing chiefly to the coolness of the backs; still they do not take enough time to make the passes sure, nor are they careful enough to select the man to receive the pass.

Captain Knox, as quarter, seems to improve the offensive strength, but he did not hammer the R. P. I. line enough. Both Robinson and Stone are shifty runners, but Robinson showed up better Saturday because h cut inside the opposing end.

The backs handled punts well; thei work seemed better than it really was because our ends did some really fine blocking of their opponents and so gave the backs plenty of time to get started.

Well, have done with criticism, for the work of the team was a pleasant surprise; and have done with praise, for other games are to come!

The line-up follows:

R. P. I.		HAMILTON.
	Left End.
Ryan, Turner.		Leavenworth
	Left Tackle.
Mager.		D. Root.
	Left Guard.
Prager.		C. Thompson.

ADDRESSES IN COMMONS.

Dr. Davenport and Colson, '11, Give Rousing Speeches for Y. M. C. A. at College Dinner Sunday.

Following the launching of its year's work two weeks ago, the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday evening held the first of its college suppers in Commons Hall. The entire college with few exceptions was present and after a supper, which excelled those of past years, listened to speeches by Dr. F. M. Davenport and Ralph Colson, '11.

Dr. Davenport contented himself with two propositions, the influence of the individual man upon his fellows and the power of the college body as a whole upon the individual. With his customary lucidity and aggressiveness of speech, he drove home a number of truths which seemed to appeal strongly to the college.

The remark was made after the gathering dispersed that had Colson spoken on socialism at the 1911 K. P. as he did on "Christ fellowship" at Commons, the Faculty might have rendered an entirely different decision. In a simple, straightforward manner he put his proposition to the men of Hamilton: Purify life in this College until you can truthfully tell the parents of prospective freshmen that you turn out clean men and you will have your three hundred students and a waiting list in short order.

It is expected that the next college meeting will be a dinner managed by the Press Club, to inspire enthusiasm for the Union game.

—Lee and Diederlin have been elected captain and manager respectively of the Freshman track team.

—Adams, Diederlin and Pohl, '15, are candidates for Assistant Manager of Track.

—Prof. Morrill is making some extensive improvements in the biological laboratory.

—The Life Board contemplates changing the management of Freshmen competition. A system of assignments rated by the members of the Board will hereafter determine the credits.

LUXE DE NIBBLE.

Down in the small, remote town of Verona where conventionality and the social graces are obscure and chewing tobacco paramount—down in Verona, Luxe was born, carefully nurtured and shackled with kindly, loving, tender hands. That horse, who at Munkitunk swept the field in the 3:81 class, who came tearing down the track with his nostrils breathing blood and his noble mane waving in the autumn breeze and finished busted and winded with Nat Loomis on the gig-seat--that horse was Luxe, premier pacer of all times, sired by Robert-K.-Dam-Jolly-S.-Dam-King-Brook. (Delivered with crescendo and waving slide!)

Recently the report reached the hill that Nibble Nahum Protunc Pratt, with utter disregard for his Phi Beta Kappa key and the Psi U freshman delegation, had departed for Lexington, Ky., with his new English Cheviot and Billy-be-damned derby, his bland smile, his D. T. pin, horse talk ad nauseam and dear old toothless, spavined, knock-kneed Luxe.

Of course you know that down in the Blue grass country, last week, the greatest trotting event of the year was in progress. Many times daily the pride of he turf stepped around the track and swelled the bosoms of their predatory owners—bloated plutocrats with diamond studs and gorgeously striped corsets. To all of which Nibble aspires. There he stands in the paddock, day after day, complacently and clandestinely he plays the bookies, wagers conservatively and confidently on Luxe the summer's wages gleaned from close application to the Canning Company's business down in Verona. He pulls assiduously on his class pipe and blasé, indifferent, he taps the ground with his class cane. Of an evening, in the hotel lobby, he extracts a San Felicia and nestles back in lazy ease upon the cushions or sips his Pilsener in indolent contentment. Luxe, the dream of his life, worth two scholarships and his "supe" with "Bill Shep" haint made good, but the time is yet to come. Luxe, my Luxe, what would I not do for thee, O gelding, dearer to me than Life or Lit!

LATER!

The N. Y. Sun of yesterday morning chronicled the last of the Transylvania Sweepstakes and the name of that old rascal, Luxe, never appeared among the also-rans. Fearing suicide or melancholia and consequent rash action, Baldy Wood left late last evening for the south to entice Nibble back to the flock and the history prize.

GYMSHOWS

Sophomores gym-showed, five; Freshmen, twenty-three. These are the official figures for the gymshows of 1911. They began September 25th and ended October 5th. As a result of the shortening of the "open season" the two under classes showed more interest, and the gymshows themselves were more lively than in former years. But there was no rowing this year.

The first gun was fired shortly after the Y. M. C. A. reception was over. Three Freshmen had been caught and were gymshowed before a large crowd of onlookers. After that nearly every night a misfortunate "Slimer" would have to perform, and at rarer intervals an unlucky "Rusty" would fall into the hands of his enemies.

The crowning event of the season was the gymshow of "Queenie" Patton of Tonawanda. His exhibition of toe dancing, together with his beautiful manner of floating like a bubble was greatly admired by the whole audience and he was obliged to respond to their "applause" time and time again.

On the last night the Sophomores wound up the fun with a gymshow of eight Freshmen, whom they had captured just before supper. The season as a whole was a good one. The new regulations concerning the length of time for gymshows worked to good advantage. It is to be hoped that this and the eleven o'clock rule will be enforced next year.

THE GRADUATE COUNCIL.

The elected members of the Graduate Council will meet at some early but yet unannounced date this fall for the purpose of organizing the Council under the provisions of the constitution adopted at the alumni meeting last June.

The constitution as published in Life's Commencement number was adopted by the alumni without amendment. The first nomination to the Council—named also in the Commencement Life—were approved without exception.

Besides formal organization, the Council at its fall meeting will plan for its conference with the committee of the Trustees, and for the general work of the Council as outlined in the empowering resolution of the trustees adopted.

—Lit will not be out until late in the month on account of a delay in letting the printing contract.

EDITORIAL.

We could well afford to be supremely satisfied with the game Saturday, had it not been for the fact that the field was not marked out. Rensselaer was particularly incensed over the omission of the management, and rightly so. It was impossible for the head-linesman properly to perform his duties and had there been need of a vital decision dependent upon the position of the lines, we might have been much more humiliated.

Whether the College authorities or the management is supposed to mark the field, it is the duty of the management to see that the marking is properly done, and upon it the blame should be placed.

* * *

Just a word about bleacher enthusiasm in games.

Last Spring, Life suggested that the students divert their enthusiasm from making personal remarks about officials and opposing players and to omit all demonstrations likely to confuse the players. This campaign for more courteous treatment of opposing teams will be continued, vigorously if necessary.

Here are a few rules that should be obeyed:

Say nothing whatever to or about the officials.

Do not attempt to ridicule the opposing players; do nothing but applaud them, and do that whenever they deserve it.

Don't exult or groan when penalties are imposed.

Above all, never yell when signals are being given.

* * *

Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons have been appointed for cheering practice. Is is too great a sacrifice for the College to devote these three afternoons to encourage the team? The playing of the team in Saturday's game indicated a fairly successful season. Let the College do its share, and it can help wonderfully, in forwarding the development of the team.

The Alumni have assumed responsibility for the coaching, provided the College wants a team. Life assumes that the College does want a team as there has been no movement to abolish the game here. To assure and to encourage the Alumni, the College should show by its enthusiasm that their efforts are appreciated.

Regular attendance is somewhat inconveniencing, we admit, but think of the tedious routine the players are compelled to undergo just because College opinion expects them to. College opinion should condemn the man who consistently avoids cheering practice just as fully as it does him who refuses to play.

Come! Let's all work together from now on. Everybody out!

TEN-YEAR ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Organizing Committee of the Graduate or Ten-Year Athletic Association was held Sunday to complete plans for organization.

An executive committee of three was elected: Barrows, '06, chairman, Drummond, '06, and Martin, '11. R. U. Hayes, '05, was elected treasurer.

Barrows reported the work he had done during the summer in securing pledges of membership and action was taken to follow up his work.

It was decided to have as secretary a member of the Senior Class, and Bates, '12, was chosen.

Several suggestions for embodiment in the constitution were adopted and plans for the year were discussed.

STUDENT TAX.

At a College meeting held yesterday morning after chapel exercises, the students voted almost unanimously to petition the Trustees to have their athletic tax put on the term bill. Instead of the present tax of $15 per annum, the amount assessed will be $10; the difference in totals it is expected to make up by a more active campaign for Alumni subscriptions. Remissions must be obtained heretofore from Dr. Stryker.

If the students find this method of levying the tax objectianable, they of levying the tax objectionable, they tees, therefore, merely act as agents for the college body.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEETS.

The cross-country candidates are Capt. Eggleston, '12, Davis, '13, Dayton, and Pohl, '14, Diederlin, Hulbert, Keddy, Lee, Ingersoll and Mattoon, '15. The team has not been finally selected but it is generally understood that besides Capt. Eggleston, Dayton, '14, and Lee, '15, will be members. The fourth member will be selected the latter part of this week. Manager Ingersoll, '13, has arranged two meets, the first of which will be run here against Colgate on Saturday next and the second will be against Union at Schenectady on October 21. The teams in each case will be composed of four men and the course in each race will cover 5 miles in the first and 4 miles in the second. The race on Saturday will finish on the track at Steuben Field shortly before the beginning of the Hobart game.

HERR MERTZ INN.

Herr Mertz, late chef at Commons, has fulfilled his promise of providing a pleasant restaurant for students and a place where a limited number of returning Alumni may engage rooms practically on the Campus.

Two large rooms, each containing a table seating a dozen, are thrown open to the College and its friends. A substantial a la carte service is offered and tobacco and candies are dispensed.

In connection with his inn, Mr. Mertz has a livery which he will use to meet at the trolley all persons engaging rooms.

Life recommends this inn to all Alumni and friends of the College. It should supply, in a small way, a long-felt want.

FACULTY RESIDENCE.

The much discussed and long planned movement to concentrate the life of the college more closely about the Campus receives no little impulse from this year's changes in Faculty residence.

Professor Lewis leases the Kelsey place for a term of years; Professor Brown occupies his newly built house beyond the athletic field; Professor Fitch purchases the Welch place at the top of Freshman Hill. At the foot of the Hill the splendid site purchased by Prof. Shepard is being capped by a very attractive colonial house.

For this year, Prof. Ibbotson is in Carnegie, Prof. Chase and family being in possession of the Ibbotson place on Dwight avenue. Rumor has it that Dr. S. J. Saunders is to move hillward.

Prof. MacHarg rooms with Prof. Lewis while Dr. Shearer shrewdly clings to the substantial provender of Keck's.

Prof. Hastings is in the Easingwood place across the creek.

All in all, the members of the Faculty are becoming familiar figures, and more permanent ones on the Hill.

And it's a good plan!

LIBRARY NOTES.

Under the supervision of Prof. Ibbotson, extensive changes are to take place in the library this year. A trained librarian will shortly take her place there as his assistant, whose duty it will be entirely to recatalog and revise the books in the library, heretofore incorrectly classified. Hereafter "Puck," "Life," "Judge," and a few of the lighter periodicals will be found in the Y. M. C. A. reading room, but all periodicals containing articles of any importance at all will remain at the library as before. Reference and reserved books may be drawn now only at 9 o'clock in the evening, and must be returned by 10 o'clock the next morning. A list of references for the prize orations and essays of the year will soon be posted, together with a list of the new books not yet cataloged. These new books, being a large number of recent works of fiction and drama and some on Prize Essay and Oration, are to be found in the new small bookshelves on the north and south sides of the main room.

The library will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 2 to 6 p. m., and from 7 to 9:30 in the evening, Sundays excepted.
